PROJECTS

Gold as an ideal investment (01/2016 - 04/2016)

- The academic project performed as a part of the curriculum for the program of M.Com in Finance.
- The project focuses that, with the effect of the current economic environment in India, low real yields around the globe incentivize the investors to look for additional sources of return, while higher uncertainty and market volatility have increased the importance of risk management.
- This study has served to remind today's investors of the importance of asset allocation in generating and protecting investment returns. It intends to throw light on the different avenues of gold investment available in the market.

Customer satisfaction on technological services provided by UCO Bank (01/2014 - 04/2014)

- The academic project performed as a part of the curriculum for the program of B.Com.
- This focused on the evolving technologies adopted by the Indian Commercial Banks in general and UCO Bank in particular, mainly to understand the extent of its use and level of satisfaction of the customers so as to arrive at appropriate suggestions to improve the bank's performance.
- Outcome was decisive in adopting the challenging market conditions and has enabled the bank to improve the customer satisfaction.
